WILSON, RONDAL T.

BPR # 003154

May 20, 1997

Public censure on May 20, 1997. An Assistant District Attorney General signed a $15,000 promissory note payable to Wilson. Subsequently, Wilson tried and negotiated settlements in criminal cases in which the obligor was representing the State. He knew, or should have known, the Assistant District Attorney had not informed the presiding judges or the District Attorney General of the circumstances which created a conflict of interest. Wilson tried a murder case against the obligor without notifying the trial court or the District Attorney General of the circumstances. He knew, or should have known, that the obligor should recuse himself from representing the State in cases against Wilson, and he should have disclosed the circumstances when it was obvious the Assistant District Attorney did not make a disclosure.
