

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF TENNESSEE
AT NASHVILLE

IN RE: AMENDMENT OF TENNESSEE SUPREME COURT RULE 9,
SECTIONS 10.10 AND 10.2

No. ADM2014-02187

ORDER

On December 2, 2014, the Court published for public comment the petition of the Access to Justice Commission (“the Commission”) asking the Court to amend Tennessee Supreme Court Rule 9, sections 10.2 and 10.10. In particular, the Commission proposed amending Rule 9, section 10.10 to require Tennessee attorneys to report annually the extent of their pro bono work, if any, and to impose an administrative sanction on any lawyer who failed to report pro bono hours. The Commission also proposed amending Rule 9, section 10.2 to implement a new funding mechanism for access-to-justice programs. Specifically, the Commission proposed including on the annual registration form licensed Tennessee lawyers must complete for the Board of Professional Responsibility an “opt out” line item for lawyers to select if they chose not to make a contribution (with $50 as the suggested contribution) to support access-to-justice programs. The deadline for written comments on the Commission’s proposed amendments was set for February 2, 2015, and has now expired. Many thoughtful comments regarding the proposed amendments were submitted, and the Commission was permitted to submit a response to these comments.

Upon due consideration of the petition, the comments, and the response, the Court denies in part and grants in part the Commission’s petition. In particular, the Court declines to require Tennessee attorneys to report annually the extent of their pro bono work. As a result, the Court also declines to impose a sanction for failure to report. Nevertheless, the Court continues to encourage strongly voluntary reporting of pro bono participation. Such reporting provides important information, which is used for many purposes, including raising public awareness about the selfless and ongoing efforts of Tennessee attorneys to improve access to justice in this State.

The Court grants the Commission’s request to establish a new voluntary funding mechanism for access-to-justice programs. The Court declines, however, to require Tennessee attorneys to “opt out” of participating in this program. Instead, the annual registration form will be revised to include a section that allows Tennessee attorneys to “opt in” by making a voluntary financial contribution to access-to-justice programs.

The Court remains committed to the Access to Justice Initiative and recognizes that the tireless efforts of Tennessee’s attorneys have made this Initiative a success. The Court commends the Commission for its excellent work, which has been, and will continue to be, instrumental in positioning Tennessee as a leader in access-to-justice efforts.

The Court hereby adopts the amendments to Tennessee Supreme Court Rule 9, sections 10.2 and 10.10, as set out in the attached Appendix A. These amendments shall take effect on July 1, 2015. The annual registration form has been revised as a result of these amendments, and the revised form is attached as Appendix B.

The Clerk shall provide a copy of this Order and the Appendices to the Tennessee Bar Association, Lexis Nexis, and Thompson Reuters. In addition, this Order and the Appendices shall be posted on the Court’s website.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

PER CURIAM

Optional Access To Justice Donation:*

There exists a growing legal needs gap in Tennessee. Indigent and working-poor families face more legal problems caused by unemployment, predatory loans, uninsured medical bills, domestic violence, evictions and foreclosures. In response to this growing need, the Tennessee Supreme Court has declared access to justice for all Tennesseans its number one strategic priority. As a part of the Court's Access To Justice Initiative, all Tennessee attorneys are asked to give a voluntary contribution which will be used to fund direct legal service providers across the state. This donation will help to provide access to justice for the over 1 million low-income Tennesseans who have civil legal problems.

A suggested voluntary donation of $50.00 is requested. If you wish to give a larger donation, mark the $75 and/or $100 donated amounts on Page One of this statement. If you wish to give a smaller donation, mark the $25 amount. If you prefer not to donate, please indicate accordingly.

*This donation may be tax-deductible. Consult a tax expert.
