HAMBLEN COUNTY LAWYER CENSURED

On July 9, 2018, Alan C. Lee, an attorney licensed to practice law in Tennessee, received a Public Censure from the Board of Professional Responsibility of the Tennessee Supreme Court.

Mr. Lee issued two checks from his trust account to two clients for settlement funds to those clients. At the end of the month, Mr. Lee mistakenly believed the two checks had been cashed by the clients, so Mr. Lee took the remaining funds on those matters as a fee. The two clients later cashed the checks, and the checks were covered by other funds in the account. Mr. Lee discovered the error, but did not replace the funds in his trust account which had been inadvertently taken as a fee for almost two months. Mr. Lee's conduct resulted in harm to his clients.

By these acts, Mr. Lee is in violation of 1.15(e) (safekeeping funds) and is hereby Publicly Censured for this violation with the condition that he attend the three-hour Trust Account Workshop by the Board of Professional Responsibility, scheduled for August 29, 2018.

A Public Censure is a rebuke and warning to the attorney, but it does not affect the attorney's ability to practice law.
